3 Reading: The autumn chat

Núria: Hi Josh! How's the weather in Manchester these days?

Josh: Hi Núria! Cold and rainy, as usual. It's been really chilly in the mornings, and there was frost on the cars today, which is early even for Manchester. It feels like winter already!

Núria: Frost already? Here it's still surprisingly mild. It's sunny in the afternoon, although the mornings are cool and foggy.

Josh: Lucky you! Since the clocks went back last weekend, it gets dark really early, at about half past four. By the time I get home from school, it's almost night.

Núria: Half past four? Wow! Here the days are getting shorter too, but it's not that bad.

Josh: So what do you usually do in autumn?

Núria: It's harvest time here, so there's lots of seasonal food. Last Sunday I went to the forest with my dad to pick mushrooms, which is something my family has done for generations.

Josh: Nice! We went to a farm to pick apples, and my mum made an apple pie.

Núria: And on the thirty-first of October we celebrate the Castanyada, which is held the night before All Saints' Day. We roast chestnuts and sweet potatoes and eat panellets, little sweets made with nuts, like almonds and pine nuts. At school, a teacher always dresses up as a castanyera, an old woman who sells roasted chestnuts.

Josh: Sounds delicious! We have Halloween on the same night. Kids dress up in costumes and go trick or treating, although some people say it has become too commercialised. My little brother is going as a skeleton this year, and he's so excited!

Núria: Do you carve pumpkins?

Josh: Yes, every year. My mum always makes pumpkin soup with the inside, so nothing is wasted. What about you? Do you dress up?

Núria: Some people do now, especially younger kids, because Halloween has become popular here too. But for me the Castanyada is about family. We eat together at my grandparents' house, and it's cosy and relaxed. I feel grateful for those evenings, and I'm proud that we keep the tradition alive.

Josh: That's really nice. I love autumn too. The leaves change colour, and when they fall from the trees, the parks look amazing.

Núria: Me too. Autumn is definitely my favourite season. Happy Halloween, Josh!

Josh: Happy Castanyada! Save me some panellets!

   b) They both come from the USA. c) They both use pumpkins.
7. Why do the two celebrations “feel very different”?
   a) Halloween is about costumes and scary fun, and the Castanyada is about family and food.
   b) The Castanyada is a new tradition. c) Only Halloween remembers the dead.

5 Speaking

Your task

Talk about autumn where you live (60–90 s): the weather, the food and how you celebrate the end of October. Explain how the celebration has changed in your family.

Model

Autumn here is mild, but the evenings get chilly and it gets dark early after the clocks go back. On 31 October my family celebrates the Castanyada with chestnuts, sweet potatoes and panellets. When my parents were young, nobody dressed up, but now many children wear Halloween costumes too, so the celebration has changed: it mixes both traditions.

Write what you will say · Then read it aloud three times and say it to your teacher.

📚 Study guide: prepare for Checkpoint 1 and the final exam

How to study what you learn in this Learning Path, and practice that works like the checkpoint and looks like the exam. The answer key is at the end of each activity.

How to study

🧠 Test yourself, don't reread

Close your notes and try to remember: write the words, say the rule, answer the questions. Then check. Rereading and highlighting feel useful, but you remember much less.

Retrieval practice · Roediger & Karpicke 2006; Dunlosky et al. 2013

📅 Spread it out

Three short sessions of 15 minutes on different days work better than one long session the day before.

Spacing · Cepeda et al. 2006

🔀 Mix it up

Practise similar things together so you learn to choose the right one for each sentence.

Interleaving · Rohrer & Taylor 2007

✅ Check and fix at once

Mark your answers with the key straight away and write each wrong answer again, correctly.

Feedback · Hattie & Timperley 2007

💬 Say why

For every answer, say the reason: "on, because it's a date." Explaining makes the rule stick.

Self-explanation · Dunlosky et al. 2013

😴 Sleep on it

Your brain stores what you learn while you sleep. A short self-test and a good night's sleep beat studying late the night before.

Sleep and memory · Diekelmann & Born 2010

My plan

1. Today · Close this page and write from memory: five autumn words and two sentences about your routine. Then check.
2. In 2–3 days · Do “Practise for Checkpoint 1” below. Look at the key and write again what you got wrong.
3. Before Checkpoint 1 · Go over the flashcards: only the ones you still miss.
4. The week before the exam · Do the exam-style practice in every Learning Path, then the Sample exam. Repeat only the parts you failed.

What comes up

Checkpoint 1 (LS1 and Learning Paths 1 and 2): short gaps, one question at a time, about 45 seconds each, no going back and no notes. You do it once, and you must stay on the page: if you leave it, it is sent. It opens the next Learning Path.
Final exam: this Learning Path comes up in the Vocabulary (seasons, weather, autumn words) and in the Grammar from LS1 (Present Simple, adverbs of frequency, phrasal verbs).

Practise for Checkpoint 1

One question at a time · 45 s

It works like the real checkpoint: 13 questions, one at a time, about 45 seconds each, with no going back and no notes. This is only practice: nothing is sent, you can repeat it, and at the end you see your answers and the key.

On paper: cover the questions and uncover them one at a time, about 45 seconds each, with no going back.

1. In autumn, the days get _____ and the nights get longer.
2. My brother _____ (watch) TV every evening.
3. We roast _____ at the Castanyada.
4. It’s _____ today: there are lots of clouds and no sun.
5. I _____ (not / go) to school on Saturdays.
6. September is _____ time for grapes in Catalonia.
7. I’m _____ about the party tonight! I can’t wait.
8. _____ your sister play tennis? — Yes, she does.
9. It _____ dark very early in December.
10. There was _____ on the car windows this morning: it was below zero.
11. I always pick my little brother _____ from school.
12. Before _____ (go) to bed, I check my bag.
13. I _____ my homework after dinner. (make / do)

Transcripts (only if you cannot listen)

Transcript 1 · Halloween and the Castanyada

Emma: Welcome back to Culture Bites. Today: where do two famous autumn celebrations come from? Let’s start with Halloween.

Sam: Halloween comes from an old Celtic festival called Samhain. It took place in Ireland and Scotland more than two thousand years ago, at the end of the harvest and the start of winter.

Emma: And people believed that on that night, the spirits of the dead came back.

Sam: Exactly. So people used to light bonfires and wear masks to hide from the spirits. And here’s a surprise: they didn’t use pumpkins. They used to carve turnips!

Emma: Turnips? So where do the pumpkins come from?

Sam: In the 1800s, many Irish people moved to the United States. Pumpkins were bigger and easier to carve, so the tradition changed.

Emma: Now let’s go to Catalonia. On the same night, the thirty-first of October, many families celebrate the Castanyada.

Sam: It’s the night before All Saints’ Day, on the first of November. On that day, many people visit the cemetery and remember family members who have died.

Emma: So where do the chestnuts come from?

Sam: People say that, a long time ago, bell ringers rang the church bells all night for the dead. They ate roasted chestnuts to keep warm and get energy.

Emma: And chestnuts and sweet potatoes are autumn food. It’s harvest time, so they’re easy to find.

Sam: Then there are panellets: little round sweets made with almonds, sugar and pine nuts. Many families make them at home together.

Emma: And in the streets you can see castanyeres, women who sell roasted chestnuts in paper cones. At school, someone often dresses up as one.

Sam: So both celebrations happen on the same night, and both are about the dead and the end of the harvest. But they feel very different!
